Whirled Around and Pulley.

Blacksmith Ed Keough lately had a miraculous escape from instant death at the Holyoke Paper company's mill. The machinery was out of gear, and in order to fix it Keough got inside a big wheel. The machinery was stopped, and he had given orders that it should not be started until he signaled.

He was at work inside the wheel when the machinery started. The steam had been turned on by a man who thought that was the thing to do. Mr. Keough was tossed about pretty lively in the wheel where he was at work for a revolution or two, and then the momentum threw him out. He landed on a wide belt that travels along near the floor for a distance of sixty feet before passing around a big pulley. Keough was carried along toward certain destruction.

Had the belt been traveling in the opposite direction he would have been crushed between it and a wheel before he had been on it an instant. He almost reached the wheel toward which he was rapidly going, when his struggles tipped the belt a little and he fell off. At this point he did not fall on the floor, but went down a considerable distance, landing on a pile of debris, receiving numerous bruises in consequence.

His horrified fellow workmen stopped the machinery as quickly as possible, and then picked up Keough, expecting to find him far more seriously hurt than he really was.—Holyoke (Mass.) Democrat.

A Dooryard Discovery.

Funny, isn't it, what queer things old winter will leave in your dooryard when he yanks off his white sheet. Of course every one had opportunity to hunt up and throw over the fence into a neighbor's lot the usual assortment of old tin cans, pails, bus—dress improvers, ashes and dismantled household utensils. But a man up Dexter way found a find in his dooryard last spring that caused a lively flutter in his peaceful family for a while. He was putting about in his yard, making various discoveries along the edge of vanishing snowdrifts, when he suddenly found something that surprised him. It was a 20-foot well. He went to the bottom in ten feet of water and had an opportunity of thoroughly exploring his new possession before the neighbors came up with a ladder. The same neighbors got the water out of him after a course of rolling and punching. Some early settlers had dug that well and had boarded and sodded it over. When the covering rotted away our friend found himself "one well in."—Lewiston Journal.

Wheat Growing From a Boy's Head.

A grain of wheat has sprouted in the forehead of a five-year-old boy. On May 15 little Thomas Stretch, the son of miller Reeve A. Stretch, of Lower Alloway Creek township, was quite seriously injured by being caught in a belt at the mill, and would have been killed but for the promptness of his father in stopping the machinery. He has now almost recovered from the effects of the accident, but a few days ago a dark spot was noticed over his eye. It was carefully opened with a lance and was found to be a grain of wheat which was sprouted.

The grain was probably forced under the skin when his head struck a bin while he was being whirled around the shaft.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Mongol Mechanics.

A few months ago the foreign residents of Foochow, in the Chinese province of Fo-Kien, were treated to the curious spectacle of a wheelbarrow apotheosis. Hundreds of almond-eyed admirers gathered about the novel monowheel, turned it over and over, trundled it along amid shouts of exultation and surrounded its proprietor with the liveliest demonstrations of approval. That enthusiastic appreciation of mechanical achievements seems not easy to reconcile with the fact that four or five new China railways were demolished by an excited mob, but the truth seems to be that the mechanism of a locomotive passes the comprehension of the average Mongol, and that the motion of a steam engine is apt to be ascribed to witchcraft.—Philadelphia Times.

Wonderful Campello Dog.

I want to speak of a rather interesting example of animal sagacity I saw out in Campello this week. As the performance was of such a rare nature, and simply demonstrated the affection dogs will sometimes have toward horses, I will speak of the case. A groceryman owns a horse and a remarkably intelligent canine, and every time the horse is hitched to the delivery wagon and it starts the dog is sure to follow in the rear. In the case I refer to I noticed the wagon stop in front of a residence, and as soon as the driver had left the vehicle the dog commenced to crop grass. He got under the horse's head, reared on his hind legs and transferred the grass to the horse's mouth. Wonderful dog, that.—Brockton Dispatch.

Fifteen Bears in One Tree.

A McCloud river woodsman, while making shakes at Black Cox mountain, cut down a big five-foot sugar pine, which proved to be hollow for forty-five feet and full of hibernating bears. There were five black, seven cinnamon and three grizzly bears in the hollow tree, and the man nailed slabs over the open end of the log and started it down the mountain toward town, where it arrived safe and sound and is now on exhibition.—McCloud Pioneer.

DODGING THE QUESTION.

The Gazette is assuming the role of "Artful Dodger" on the silver question. It has maintained a studied silence on the financial plank of the Ohio Republican platform, which endorsed the Sherman Commodity Act of last July, and it said the Ohio Democrats straddled the money question. When shown by the JOURNAL that Major McKinley, the Republican candidate for Governor, fully understood the financial plank of the Democratic platform, and that it meant free coinage of gold and silver, the Gazette, without attempting to explain its position, says "we would be a little better pleased if the JOURNAL would quote us correctly."

As the JOURNAL has no disposition to misrepresent or misquote the Gazette, it gives the plank of the Ohio Democratic platform, which appeared in the Gazette's own columns, and which is as follows:

"We denounce the demonetization of silver in 1873 by the party then in power as an iniquitous alteration of the money standard in favor of creditors and against debtors, taxpayers and producers and which, by shutting off one source of supply of primary money, operates continually to increase the value of gold, depress prices, hamper industry and disparage enterprise; and we demand the reinstatement of the constitutional standard of both gold and silver, with equal rights, each to free and unlimited coinage."

The exact language of the Gazette in commenting on this plank in its issue of July 16, is as follows:

"Just what the Ohio Democrats mean, it is hard for us living at this distance to comprehend. The platform adopted a string of abuses of the Republicans and the Administration with the billion dollar Congress occupying a front seat, but they dodge every question but the tariff." The Gazette, if it understands plain English, knows that the financial plank is as outspoken for free coinage as it could be made, in fact it was drafted by A. J. Warner of the National Silver Committee, one of the firmest friends of silver and one of the most persistent advocates of free coinage, yet the Gazette says the money resolution which he drew and which was adopted by the convention as above quoted, "dodges" the question.

There has not been a line in the Gazette in condemnation of the Sherman plank of the Republican platform of Ohio, while it has repeatedly endeavored to make it appear that the Ohio Democratic platform dodges the silver question.

The free coinage question concerns the people of Nevada far more than any other issue upon which political parties are now divided, as the prosperity of the State depends to a great extent upon its solution. The JOURNAL places the prosperity of the State above party success and will not support a party opposed to the full remonetization of silver. If the Gazette and other Republican papers will say as much, stand by their declaration and let Harrison and all other gold bug candidates for the Presidency understand that only a free coinage man can get the electoral vote of Nevada silver will be remonetized within a year. On the other hand, pretending to favor free coinage and at the same time defending and upholding a gold bug Administration as many Nevada papers do, has no effect at Washington as it deceives none but the most unsophisticated.

The Militar Wochenblatt, a military Berlin paper, has caused a sensation by publishing an editorial in which it says there are so many Russian troops between Germany and Russia that the influence of the latter country is predominant, and that it is imperative that steps should be immediately taken by the German Government to restore the balance.

Governor Pennoyer of Oregon has refused to issue a warrant of arrest asked for by the Governor of Washington in the case of a man who was acquitted in Oregon for the same crime the warrant is issued for. Governor Pennoyer says the man is free to leave the State at his will, since he was tried and acquitted in Oregon.

BAKERSFIELD July 20.—The Calloway Canal broke its south bank late yesterday afternoon, and two hundred acres of land, including some choice vineyard land, were soon under water. The loss may reach $25,000. Residents are endeavoring to drain the overflow into the river. It is supposed the canal bank was undermined by gophers.

The Compton Court Martial.
Special to the Journal.

WALLA WALLA, July 20.—At the court martial of Colonel Compton to-day, Captains Hatfield, Smith, Wilder, Dr. Koefler and Lieutenant Dickenson testified, when the Judge Advocate rested the case. The evidence was in a large measure new, though it did not show Colonel Compton gave any orders to investigate the mutinous conduct of the soldiers on the night of April 23 and 24th until after receiving word from Prosecuting Attorney Blanford of the likelihood of further trouble. Lieutenant Dickenson, who was officer of the day on April 24th, testified that on the night of the 24th he was told by Colonel Compton to have two check roll calls, and he did so, but did not know that Hunt was killed until the next morning. Dickenson testified that when Compton gave him the order to have the check roll called he told of the visit of the Sheriff and prosecuting attorney and their story of the rumors. He said that he had told them he could not do anything to help them till after 11 o'clock. Captain Wilder testified that on the night of the 24th, after Compton told of the rumored attack on the jail, he inspected the gun racks and found pistols missing. He prepared to go to town when he was informed by Captain Richards that Hunt had just been killed. Captain Hatfield testified that he commanded D troop supposed to be partially implicated in the attack on the gate and on the jail, and that on the night of the 23d Compton addressed his company, telling them they were at the bottom of the trouble. He did not threaten to punish the men. It is expected that a large number of witnesses will be examined to-morrow for the defense, among them being Mayor N. G. Blalock, Superior Judge, W. H. Upton and other prominent citizens.

Denouncing the Hall-Fitzsimmons Fight
Special to the Journal.

ST. PAUL, July 20.—The Mayor having declined to interfere with the coming Hall-Fitzsimmons fight at the request of a number of citizens, a mass meeting was called for to-night and 5,000 excited citizens responded and loudly applauded denunciatory speeches which were delivered. Archbishop Ireland was the principal speaker and he arraigned the prize ring and its "lawlessness and vulgar animalism" strongly. Ex-United States Senator McMillan and Rev. W. A. Butterick of the First Baptist Church were more severe than the Archbishop. A memorial was prepared calling on Governor Merriam to prevent the fight. This it was proposed to present to-morrow but the crowd would have no delay and with a shout of "present it now" the entire 5,000 people went to the State House. A committee was sent to summon Governor Merriam. He responded that he could not address the crowd to-night but would see the memorial in the morning. The assembly then dispersed. A citizen of St. Paul swore out a warrant for Fitzsimmons and he is now in hiding.

Boss Quay Will Resign.
Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Speaking to-day of a statement by Senator Quay that he had decided to resign the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee immediately after the election, Hon. J. S. Clark said: "I am able to state that this is true. Immediately after the election Quay stated to his colleagues of the Executive Committee that he had decided to resign as chairman, that he did not desire to do the detail work, and still more felt that a U. S. Senator ought not to be chairman of the National Committee or any political committee. His colleagues resisted this and persuaded him not to resign. He renewed his wish three or four months afterwards and about the time of the inauguration insisted upon it. The judgment of the committee was opposed to it. The Senator was only changed from his purpose by the advice and appeal of his colleagues. His health was frail at times and he desired to be rid of the burden superimposed. When his health failed in the Senate and he went to Florida on his annual fishing tour he stated to me that his unaltered determination to resign."

An Appeal to the Secretary of the Interior.
Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Acting Secretary Chandler of the Interior Department recently received a letter from Mr. Wood McKnight of Riverside, California, calling attention to the report that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company was about to attempt to stop the overflow of the Colorado river which has formed a new lake in the Colorado desert, the property of the company being jeopardized, and requesting that the department intervene in behalf of the interests of the people of Southern California, whom it is presumed the new body of water will greatly benefit. Mr. Chandler has replied that the matters referred to were not within the jurisdiction of the department and that the remedy of the people against any actual or anticipated injury from operations of the railroad company in protecting its property lies in the courts.

Judge Buckles Cited to Appear for Contempt of Court.
Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—A. J. Buckles, Superior Judge of Solano county and ex-Commander of the California Department of the G. A. R., has been cited to appear before the State Supreme Court and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. The action grows out of the divorce suit of Robert Gordon vs. Elka Gordon and is due to the alleged refusal of Judge Buckles to recognize a writ of habeas corpus sued out by Gordon in the San Francisco court after the latter's arrest had been ordered, for failing to appear before Buckles when summoned.

State Troops and Convicts Captured by Miners.
Special to the Journal.

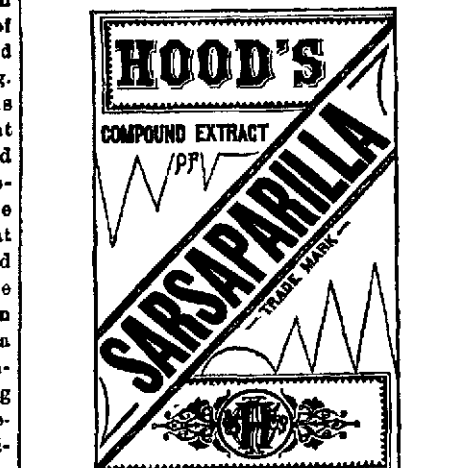

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 20.—The State troops and convicts who were captured at Coal Creek by miners this morning arrived here at 4:30 p. m. A vast crowd met them at the depot. Loud demands are being made that the Governor send a big force to oust the rioters. It is reported here that the Governor will ask President Harrison for a force of regulars.

Last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Messrs. Aitken, Ramsey, Swisher, Herz, Marks, Emrich, Kerth, Barber, McNeely, Tassel, Koppe and Longfellow left Reno for the summit of Mount Rose, arriving there at 12 o'clock Sunday. Mount Rose is 10,800 feet above the level of the sea, and afforded the sight-seers a grand view of a large extent of country. The snow-capped Mount Shasta, over two hundred miles north, was plainly visible, and the waters of twenty-one lakes, glistening like gems in the dark green forests of the Sierras were visible. The snow on Mount Rose is from four to eight feet deep, making it difficult to reach its summit. The party had a camera and succeeded in taking some good pictures of the grand scenery.

THE COLLISION AT CLARK'S.

An Inquest Held on the Body of the Tramp.

The collision at Clark's Station at 11 o'clock Saturday night, a report of which appeared in the JOURNAL Sunday morning, resulted in injuring Engineer Henry Masnrette and Fireman Sam Kinkead of the west-bound train, besides killing a tramp and bruising one of three colored boys who were riding on the pilot of the west-bound engine.

Coroner Peers held an inquest on the body of the tramp yesterday. The trainmen of both trains were examined as witnesses, and all the facts having any bearing on the case were brought out. It was shown that the east-bound train had reached the switch at Clark's station and had stopped on the main track but did not have time to side track before the west-bound train came along on time, and ran into the engine of the standing train. Engineer Masnrette of the west-bound train saw the head light of the east-bound train and believing it was side tracked did not stop in time to prevent a collision. He remained at his post and narrowly escaped death. His fireman, Sam Kinkead, jumped from the engine and was badly bruised. The tramp was supposed to be riding between the baggage and the postal car and was crushed to death. Neither of the engines nor any of the cars left the track.

The Coroner's jury found that the tramp, whose name cannot be ascertained, was killed by an accident at Clark's Station at 11 o'clock P. M., July 13th, 1891. It has been the custom for the east-bound express to side track at Clark's while the west-bound train passed. Saturday night Engineer Masnrette, who was a new man on the passenger train, thought the east-bound train was side tracked, hence the accident which almost cost him his life.

MORE INFORMATION FOR TAXPAYER.

What the January Grand Jury Found and Did.

Reno, July 18, 1891.

EDITOR STATE JOURNAL.—I note that you do not publish my communication of yesterday as written, in so far at least as the language used by the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners when going to the Court-house to draw the January Grand Jury. On second thought, I conclude you were right in your course, although as written it is part of the history of the somewhat famous Grand Jury in question, and I only inserted it to show how hard it is for Grand Jurors to do their duty under instructions of the Court when another department of our county government is allowed to abuse jurors with such vile language. Why does our court urge investigation under the laws, and then allow the investigated officers to set all at naught by personal abuse too nasty and obscure for publication in a decent newspaper.

THE STEAMBOAT BRIDGE.

Yesterday I said I would give you a history of the somewhat famous Steamboat bridge, built near the farm of Mr. Crane last Summer. It may be mentioned that I heard a great deal of scandal going the rounds at the time, but took no pains to get facts until with Mr. Ward and Mr. O'Connor. I was appointed on the committee last Winter to investigate the office of the County Commissioners. On page 537 of the records of the Board we found an order in words and figures as follows: "Upon motion it was ordered that M. J. Curtis be and is employed to construct a bridge across Steamboat Creek near Steamboat Springs, said Curtis to furnish all the material needed in the construction of the bridge in accordance with plans this day filed with the Board for the sum of $497 50."

At the next meeting (see page 564 of the records) Curtis presented his claim for building the bridge, and was allowed the sum of $508 25. Here is a small difference of $18 75 between the contract price and the amount paid. But this is not the main point. Almost by accident the committee heard that the County Commissioners had supplied a part of the material. At the Reno Lumber Yard we found that the Chairman of the Board had bought and had charged to Washoe county forty-two planks, which cost $42 50. This lumber was sent to Curtis. When the bill was made out against the county it was endorsed, "correct; John Douglas," and allowed the Lumber Company, who did not know anything of the job. Next we found that one of the members of the Board had bought of Messrs. Folsom & Wells five barrels of cement, costing $37 50, which was also sent to Curtis. The bill was duly made out against the county, duly certified as being "correct," allowed and paid. Then there were some other items of like nature, but I have no memorandum of them. But here it will be seen that the bridge cost Washoe county at least $596 35, where a number of other builders would have done the work, all complete, for less than $400. Upon this showing, and the additional facts that the contractor stated to a number of reliable citizens that he was awarded the contract upon agreeing with Mr. McLaughlin, one of the County Commissioners, that all the supplies should be bought of the "corner store," and the further assertion made by said Curtis when rallied by a taxpayer about his extravagant bills against the county that he was obliged to charge bills as he had to divide—whereupon the Grand Jury found and reported:

"That a majority of the Board of County Commissioners, to wit: Hymers and McLaughlin, did conspire together with one M. J. Curtis, a citizen, in the construction of the Crane bridge whereby the law governing the letting of contracts was sought to be evaded, and in fact was evaded and set at naught in order to give the contract to a favored applicant. That as a result of such evasion and favoritism the cost of construction of said work to the county was at least one hundred and thirty dollars in excess of reasonable compensation."

Was or is the above an indictment? Possibly not. Was or is it a presentment? I think it was and is. Is the language uncertain? Very likely it is not worded as a lawyer would write it, but we had no lawyers on the jury. Is there any doubt as to who the conspirators were—san County Commissioners engage in a conspiracy?

NOT AUTHORIZED TO DO MORE.

Taxpayer wonders why the jury does not follow up these charges or beg pardon of the accused official. My answer for myself is that I am not allowed to follow the matter in court, and as to begging pardon, I am not of that kind. If our presentment of this matter is not "an accusation in writing" then I fail to comprehend the English language. I hope Taxpayer will take the foregoing as my explanation. I can't speak for the other members. As a matter of fact the January Grand Jury is a thing of the past and it is idle to ask that it should proceed any further.

The said Grand Jury at the same time also found and reported the following, to wit:

"That a large sum of money belonging to the county was illegally drawn from the county treasury by Hymers and McLaughlin, county commissioners, during the year 1890 to reimburse themselves for money paid out in the transportation of various and sundry persons on the pretense of affording relief to indigents. See two bills allowed and heretofore attached and made a part herof." But I have not time to copy these bills at this time, but will do so later on if opportunity is afforded me. These two presentments or "accusations in writing" were found by the unanimous voice of the Grand Jury, at least I don't know to the contrary. But the pertinent query of Boss Tweed under similar circumstances always was: "Well, what are you going to do about it?" More anon.

THE MARSHALL MINE.

An Excellent Prospect for a Rich Lead.

A JOURNAL representative in company with Judge Marshall visited Peavine mountain, which is situated seven or eight miles northwest from Reno. From the foot hills about three miles from town, to the summit, which is over twice that distance, the country has been more or less prospected with shafts and tunnels, the greater number of which are mere surface holes. As the objective point of the Judge and the reporter was the MARSHALL MINE.

But little attention was paid to those monuments of the industry and poor judgment of the early prospectors. The road to the mine was built by P. N. Norton and, while no toll is collected, it is kept in excellent order, though unlike the road proposed by the late W. J. Forbes, "it is not down hill both ways."

The Marshall mine is situated in Reno mining district near the Peavine line, about seven miles, as the road runs, from Reno. It comprises two claims of 1,500 feet by 600 feet each. Attempts were made at various points to prospect these leads by sinking upon them, but a heavy flow of water prevented developments by shaft. A tunnel was then started and about 700 feet from its mouth it cut the lead, at an angle of about 60 degrees, the course of the tunnel being nearly west and that of the vein where it is cut by the tunnel being nearly northeast and southwest. At the point of intersection the lead is between three and four feet wide and it carries a vein of ore from a few inches to twenty inches thick, which the reporter was informed assays from 100 to 400 ounces of silver to the ton.

The vein is fairly well defined, the hanging wall being slate and the foot wall what miners call porphyry. The vein consists of blue clay, quartz and sulphurets. As the vein was cut recently, only a few tons of ore has yet been extracted.

As the mountain rises abruptly from where the tunnel intersects the lead, depth will be attained rapidly henceforth, though the mine will have to be ventilated before much further progress is made in its development.

RICH MINERAL COUNTRY.

The mine is situated in a rich mineral country. The Peavine mines are in the same mountain, and the Lingle placer mines are located in its immediate vicinity. The present tunnel, from which about four miner's inches of water flows steadily, will drain the mine to a considerable depth. The indications for a permanent lead are favorable. There is a good road to the mine, and if the ore averages in richness what samples of it assay, Judge Marshall will reap the reward his pluck and perseverance deserves, and Reno will have a paying mine in its immediate vicinity.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.

Almost a Miraculous Escape.

Last evening Mrs. B. F. Leete and Mrs. George Cutting were out driving. Mrs. Cutting carried her grandchild, Arthur Beebe's baby in her arms. The horse became frightened at the hydrant where the sprinkling-cart is filled, opposite the court house, and ran away. The carriage gave way, two of the wheels breaking down, and while Mrs. Leete slackened the speed of the animal Mrs. Cutting and the baby rolled out. Subsequently Mr. Leete succeeded in getting out of the broken wagon, and the horse finally turned toward town and was captured by Graves and Stevens at the north end of the bridge. Neither the ladies nor the baby sustained the slightest injury and their escape under the circumstances is deemed almost miraculous by those who saw the runaway.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

The Last of the James Family.

Special to the Journal.

CLAY CITY, Ill., July 20.—This morning all that remained of the James family living five miles west of here was found in the ruins of their home, which was evidently burned during the night. The family consisted of husband, wife, daughter and grandchild. It is thought that either the son or the father murdered the family, committed suicide and then set fire to the house. The son was addicted to the use of whisky and threatened to kill the family and the father was subject to spells of insanity.
